

SUBSCRIBE

- ☀️ 27°C
- 📺 15:33 Asr

Abu Dhabi, UAE Wednesday 9 January 2019

Arts&Culture

- Film
- Art
- Books
- Music
- On Stage
- Television
- Comment

Don't miss Sadik Alfraji in conversation tonight in Alserkal Avenue

Portrait of Sadik Kwaish Alfraji who will be giving a talk at A4 in Alserkal Avenue tonight. Courtesy, Ayyam Gallery

Anna Seaman
April 28, 2015

Next week, in the watery city of Venice, a team from Dubai will be conducting the Safina Radio Project – a live art discussion platform on a boat traversing the canals.

Tonight, the precursor to that event takes place with Sadik Kwaish Alfraji, an Iraqi artist who lives and works in the Netherlands, in open conversation at the A4 space on Alserkal Avenue.

Alfraji's exhibition, Ali's Boat, is a deep and emotion filled personal journey as well as reflection on the human trait of escapism and is currently showing at Ayyam Gallery's Al Quoz branch (just across the street from A4).

Don't miss Alfraji talking about his show and also opening the platform for discussion of themes and issues that connect with the Safina Radio Project, which will be curated by Anabelle de Gersigny, commissioned by Alserkal Avenue and will launch in Venice during the 56th Venice Biennale.

aseaman@thenational.ae

Updated: April 28, 2015 04:00 AM

RELATED ARTICLES

ART

Art Bahrain: the people bringing Bahraini art to the world

ART

Why this year's Sharjah Islamic Arts Festival is better than ever

ART

The UK's first illustrated take on the plight of refugees

ART

How does Abdul Qader Al Rais fit into the history of art in the UAE?

ART

The Palestinian artists giving new life to the streets of Beit Sahour

