תְּבִיבָה

A close-up photograph of a vertical wooden board that has suffered significant damage. The wood is a light tan color with darker, charred areas indicating severe rot or insect damage. A large, jagged horizontal tear runs across the middle of the board, exposing the underlying structure. Numerous small holes and larger, irregularly shaped openings are scattered across the surface, particularly towards the top and bottom. The texture of the wood is rough and uneven due to the damage.
