Born in Jordan, educated in Texas and based in Jerusalem, photographer Tanya Habjouqa has earned a reputation for photojournalism that brings politics and creative vision into the same frame. Whilst her photographs zoom in on gender, identity and social issues in the Middle East, they're far from one might expect from photography with a political edge. Tanya's playful eye navigates cultural nuances with equal parts sensitivity and humour, finding elements of the absurd amidst day-to-day realities in
